

HONORS NEWSLETTER

March 2019

Class of 2023 experiences Scholars' Weekend

On the weekend of Feb. 17-18, incoming freshmen from various areas of the country were able to participate in Scholars' Weekend. These Class of 2023 members interviewed for scholarships ranging from Teaching Fellows and the Honors Program to more major-specific scholarships. In addition, students were able to learn more about Meredith and all it has to offer from an array of information sessions. Many had the opportunity to spend the night in a residence hall, as well as attend a Monday morning class. The event was fun for all students, whether current or prospective! Many thanks to Scholars' Weekend co-chairs Kim Schuh and Barbara Barrier for making the weekend a success, and to all the Honors students who helped. Below, junior Nola Grace Brown takes a photo with her group of potential Honors scholars on Sunday, Feb. 17.

Upcoming Honors Program Events:

- Mar. 2, 2019: FOE- Ayr Mount and a Hillsborough History Walk
 - Apr. 13, 2019: FOE- Aloha Zoo
 - Apr. 29, 2019: Honors drive-by breakfast
- May 1, 2019: deadline to make an appointment with Dr. Pitts for thesis signing

Senior Showcase

Logan Joyner

Hometown: Spring Hope, NC

Major/minor: Food and Nutrition, with a concentration in Dietetics

Plans after graduation: My plans after graduation are to complete the Dietetic Internship at Meredith or continue onto get my Master of Science in Nutrition from Meredith.

Some faculty members who have impacted her time here include: Dr. Landis and Dr. Hood have both been very helpful and encouraging to me in working through tough classes, completing my thesis, and figuring out my plans for after graduation. It has meant a lot to me to have their help in finding the best way to achieve my goals.

Favorite Honors program tradition and/or event: Fall trip

Fun or unique fact about Logan: Visiting the State Farmers' Market and going for runs on the greenway have probably been my favorite parts about living in Raleigh!

Georgia Kimbell

Hometown: Pinehurst, NC

Major/minor: Chemistry major, music minor

Plans after graduation: research of some sort

Some faculty members who have impacted her time here include: Dr. Powell and Dr. Ormond

Favorite Honors program tradition and/or event: Scholars' Weekend

Fun or unique fact about Georgia: Last summer, I conducted research in a program in Graz, Austria for three months.

Editor's Note: These senior showcases are meant to highlight a few of the seniors who will be graduating in May from the Honors Program, and these will continue in every edition through the end of the school year. Although the newsletter may not be able to recognize all graduating seniors, the Honors Program is proud of all of your accomplishments, and excited to see what the next step entails! Do not hesitate to reach out to myself or Dr. Pitts if you have any questions or concerns.

Edited by: Hannah Porter, '22. Advisor: Dr. Brent Pitts, Honors Program Director